Beaty's Election Means Four Years of Progress—

Fred T. Beaty's majority of 9,000 over Prescott F. Cogswell in the campaign to elect a supervisor in the first district insures this district of an able, active representative on that board for the next four years.

The editor of this newspaper supported Fred Beaty as against Mr. Cogswell, taking this attitude in the interests of efficiency in county government. It should not be necessary to add that any opposition to Mr. Cogswell was in any manner personal. Mr. Cogswell, like many other men, was neither a completely efficient nor a completely inefficient servant. Mr. Cogswell has rendered much splendid service to the county and to the state. Any denial of this fact would not be fair. The editor of this newspaper has also always believed Mr. Cogswell to be honorable in every respect, and that if any charges brought seem to cast doubt upon his honor and integrity, it is the belief of this newspaper that such charges were made possible through force of circumstances and not through any deliberate act upon the part of Mr. Cogswell. It was therefore only fair that as little as possible should have been said concerning such charges during the campaign, and none will rejoice more than this newspaper editor if the charges prove to be wholly technical or entirely groundless.

But the real issue was that of bringing back to the people a government responsive to the people. For eight years the county government had been gradually resolving itself into a little oligarchy, with the board of supervisors less and less inclined to listen to citizens when requests for improvements were made. There was far too much high-handedness in this government. This was shown glaringly in the building of the hall of justice. If the two million dollars which the people voted for the erection of this building was entirely inadequate, according to the viewpoint of the supervisors, they should have resubmitted the question to the voters and abided by the decision of the people. But members of the board declared they would spend seven millions and take it out of general taxation, thus violating a principle of government which all citizens resent.

The question of the rights of the people in the building of the San Gabriel dam was another matter which was handled with extremely bad judgment on the part of the board. In the very early days just after the voting of the bond control bonds the rights of way could have been quietly secured and recorded, and the long delay could have been avoided. But the supervisors allowed subordinates in charge of flood control to antagonize a considerable portion of the citizenry, with the result that the whole county is obliged to suffer this delay in the greatest project ever instituted in Southern California.

Fred Beaty is a friend-maker, a past master in the practice of conciliation in the interests of progress. He has the interests of the whole county in mind, and will therefore bend every effort toward the straightening out of any controversial cross-currents within the county, in order that all may be benefited.

We can predict that the San Gabriel dam will be built as authorized, and with injury to no individual or community. We know that no person or group of persons will suffer the loss of water rights through any action of the board of supervisors in the next four years, or at any time. We can predict that the first district will get more and better highways, and with it an era of expansion and prosperity.

During the campaign there were certain over-enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Cogswell who wrote and said things derogatory to Mr. Beaty and his friends. Some of this literature, and some of these speeches became very lurid at times. There were some very astonishing statements made, even above any excuse that could be made on the ground that they were made in the heat of a campaign. Like all intemperate action it defeated its own purpose and merely served to amuse. Now that the campaign is over these fulminations, accusations and incriminations should be regarded merely in the light of mental disturbance under campaign pressure, abetted at times by personal and localized animosities. They were only incidental to the campaign and of no lasting weight. Sound-minded citizens paid no attention except to laugh, and they pass into unimportant history.

The main thing to consider now is that the tracks are cleared for real progress, with a responsive government in the county. Every citizen will undoubtedly see the wisdom of disarding any doubts and personal preferences and get together for the good of all behind Fred T. Beaty and Sidney T. Graves, the latter the supervisor-elect in the third district, and in the language of Fred Beaty—"Let's Go!"

ELECTRIC COOKERY WILL BE DEMONSTRATED BY EXPERT

In the electric kitchen from which Miss B. Edna Galvin, nationally known home economist and expert in electric cookery will present her electric cookery programs at the Covina Woman's clubhouse on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, Nov. 18th and 19th, there will be two of the famous Hotpoint electric ranges, equipped with their "maintained temperature control" features, which all cookery authorities say are essential to perfect cookery. The Servel refrigerator is also a piece of the modern furniture which will be used. Electric refrigeration is "perfect" refrigeration. This equipment is loaned by the Southern California Edison company.

It is a recognized fact that the most important of all of the home keeping demands of the day is that of the preparation of food. The charm of the home and all that it stands for soon vanishes if meals are not only attractive, served on time, properly prepared and of a selection that provides nourishment within the food budget. Miss Galvin is going to explain these features as a real service in connection with her programs. Everyone, says Miss Galvin, likes good food, and one of the outstanding features of true hospitality is in inviting others to share the table fare.

One of the attractive features of the Covina Woman's club free electric cooking school is that each afternoon a drawing will be held, when whoever is lucky will win free of all charge a most attractive and also one of the very newest Hotpoint table appliances. Christmas is coming and here is an opportunity to win a real prize which the winner can keep as a gift to someone she wishes to make especially happy at that time, or for herself for years to come.

We recommend that everyone come prepared with notebook and pencil to make notes of the valuable information in cookery and general preparation of foods that Miss Galvin will give to you on each of these two afternoons, November 18th and 19th, from 2 until 4 o'clock. Plan to come each afternoon and bring a friend. Authorized.

Harold Lloyd Sends Movie to Shut-in

Mrs. Minta Johnson of West Center street had the opportunity to see her first moving picture film a couple of weeks ago, on October 26. Mrs. Johnson has been a shut-in for many years, living a cheerful life through her books and her family and friends. She is an old resident of Covina, her late husband having been a partner for many years with the father of Elmer and Gilbert Nigg in the old blacksmith shop now supplanted by the Safeway store.

A party, composed of her daughter, Mrs. Percy Nash of Los Angeles, her granddaughter, Mrs. Loida Nash Honn and her husband, W. L. Honn, and other friends from the Harold Lloyd studio, came over for the evening with the film, "Grandma's Boy." The pictures were thrown on a screen near the foot of the invalid's bed by Harold Lloyd's private picture machine. Mr. Honn is assistant technical director at the studio, and Mr. Lloyd has promised that this is only the first of a series of pleasant evenings to be given Mrs. Johnson throughout the winter.

Beaty Receives 9000 Majority

A few votes under a majority of 9000 was given Fred T. Beaty of Montebello, who will succeed Prescott F. Cogswell as county supervisor in the first district.

In a statement issued by Myron J. Haig of Whittier, campaign manager for Beaty, he said that the election of Beaty was never actually in doubt following the majority of 3400 which Beaty received over Cogswell at the primaries, but that the Cogswell forces waged a stubborn battle to the very end, necessitating one of the most intensive campaigns that has ever been experienced in the county.

Mr. Beaty, in an address two days after the election, given before the East Side Organization, of which he is past president, declared that he had scrupulously avoided any statement during his campaign that would have reflected upon the character and integrity of his opponent, and felt that he had waged a "clean" campaign throughout. The fact that all the members of the board of supervisors were under charges brought by the district attorney was not allowed to become a campaign issue, so far as he and his friends were concerned, Mr. Beaty said.

"If, during the months to come I can legally and conscientiously assist Mr. Cogswell in clearing himself of these charges I shall only be too happy to do so," Mr. Beaty declared. He added that he considered it a matter of regret that the charges came in the midst of a campaign, and said that the real issues were those dealing with economy, matters of judgment and responsibility in county government, with special emphasis on delay in flood control projects and a lack of an adequate program for highways and boulevard in the first district.

In a statement given for publication to all newspapers yesterday, the supervisor-elect, thanked all his friends for the loyal support given him in what he characterized one of the hardest fought campaigns waged in the county in years. He reiterated his statement that he would be the candidate of no man or corporation or community, but that he would endeavor to give a square deal to all parts of the district. Sidney T. Graves, the supervisor-elect in the third district, who succeeds F. E. Woodley, has signified that he intends to work in complete accord with Mr. Beaty, and predicts a term on the board productive of real progress in highways, viaducts, sanitation districts and flood control.

P.-T. A Observes "Education Week"

In observance of "Education Week," the grammar school Parent-Teacher association, in conjunction with the teachers, opened the school to the parents from 6:30 to 7:45 Monday, closing the evening with a program in the auditorium. Many were received during visitors' hour by the teachers, who took pleasure in showing the work of the pupils and talking over the welfare of the children in their charge.

The evening program opened with a concert by the school orchestra, directed by Miss Archer. At 8 o'clock Professor Lowry Howard, assistant superintendent of the Pasadena schools, addressed a large audience. The speaker talked from a large experience in child welfare work, and gave to the parents many suggestions that should assist materially in the guidance of their children, especially through the adolescent age.

holds the line!

Henry Houdini, himself, would admit defeat. For tie 'em in bow-knots, get as pleasantly rough as you please, but Jerry-J will still swathe the manly physique in form-fit curves. If you don't want that disconcerting stretch, get a Jerry-J.

The JERRY-J is the name of a very superior sweater made for boys and girls as well as in larger sizes. Its smart appearance is always retained because of the perma-fit collar seam, which is patented and cannot be used by any other maker.

A special committee on ditch examination recommended the spending of $20,000, expecting the succeeding board to carry on the plan in like proportions each year.

The ladies of the Christian church will serve their annual turkey dinner in Independence hall on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 28. Dinner 25 cents.

TEN YEARS AGO

Republicans sweep Covina. Dry amendments in Covina carry 2 to 1. The W. C. T. U. representatives were all at the polling places, and not one possible dry vote stayed at home. Rominger got more than a 100-vote lead on Cogswell in the race for state senator. The three judges that won in this district were Finlayson, Craig and Wood. The hottest election since Hayes and Tilden, 40 years ago, was the poll taken last Tuesday for president. Latest reports are that both prohibition amendments are lost to the state.

Valencia shipments closed this week. 1916 season marked by uniformly high prices. Northern navelis starting off slowly. Navel shipments from local orchards not expected until December.
